

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

DECLASSIFIED
PA/HO, Department of State
E.O. 12958, as amended
June 22, 2004

November 6, 1969

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
FOR DR. HENRY KISSINGER

The task force report on heorin is certainly the best thing the State Department has yet come forward with on this subject. They begin to see the point. But they still don't feel it. They are not frightened by this problem. They merely have come to realize that the President is interested.

(Two days ago the leading white liberals of Washington came in to see John Ehrlichman and asked if the administration would not permanently station troops on the streets of Washington. Vraiment. Kay Graham, et. al.)

I don't think we should work over the Task Force prose. The real issue, as I see it, is who presents the issue to the governments of France and Turkey. Ingersoll is a fine technician, but I think he would inevitably be seen as such. At the risk of presumption, I suggest that I be sent. I expect I know as much about the subject, really, as anyone around. In its larger dimensions, I am now a member of the cabinet.(!) I am an aide to the President. Pompidou and Demirel would have to take me seriously. Further, I am the U.S. representative on the NATO committee on the Challenges of Modern Society. We meet early in December.* I would have good reason for being in France and Turkey either before or after that meeting. (As I was before and after the meeting of the Preparatory Committee.) Finally, the funds we transfer to Turkey -- they have a right to be paid -- could be in the form of CCMS connected work. For example, they clearly need help in establishing a Technology Center.
